

Drug Delivery

CV

Louise Rosenmayr-Templeton is a pharmacist with over 18 years' experience in pharmaceutical product development and project management. In 2002 she set up Tower Pharma Consulting, a boutique consultancy that provides a variety of scientific, technical and project management services to pharmaceutical/biotech companies and government agencies. Its primary focus is on formulation science, product development and drug delivery technologies.

Prior to setting up her business Louise worked in various capacities for Abbott Labs (UK and USA), the Élan Corporation (Ireland) and Boehringer Ingelheim (Austria). She graduated from Strathclyde University in 1986 with first class honours and obtained her PhD in the field of novel drug delivery from Nottingham University. Louise has been a member of the APV's Drug Delivery Focus Group since 2007 and is editor of its Newsletter.
