

APV research award for outstanding achievements in the pharmaceutical sciences

APV (International Association for Pharmaceutical Technology) gives away this award every other year in appreciation of outstanding research achievements in the pharmaceutical sciences. The award is connected with an amount of 5,000.- Euro kindly donated by F. Hoffmann-La Roche AG and will be presented in the course of the "14th World Meeting on Pharmaceutics, Biopharmaceutics and Pharmaceutical Technology" taking place in Vienna, Austria, 18 - 21 March 2024.

This award is open to any senior researcher in Europe who has made outstanding achievements in the pharmaceutical sciences and is not older than 50 years. The applications are reviewed by an international committee.

Candidates may be nominated by regular APV members. Please send a written nomination letter with comprehensive substantiation by email to the chair of the APV award committee, Prof. Dr. Gerhard Winter (e-mail: apv@apv-mainz.de), by 15 January 2024 at the latest. Only nominations by e-mail can be considered.
